Real Estate Investment Securities Association (REISA) Hosts Regional Symposium in Dallas

INDIANAPOLIS – March 4, 2010 – The Real Estate Investment Securities Association (REISA) will hold a one-day, regional symposium on April 12, 2010 at Marriott Quorum by the Galleria in Dallas, Texas.

REISA's regional symposium will provide time during breakfast, lunch and a closing cocktail hour for attendees to network, share ideas and gain new industry knowledge. Attendees will have the opportunity to attend six different sessions on private and non-traded REITs, Regulation D real estate programs, energy investments, the current regulatory environment and emerging real estate securities industry trends from the industry's top producers.

This meeting will attract hundreds of local real estate securities professionals including financial advisors, sponsors, broker-dealers, registered representatives, registered investment advisors (RIAs), CPAs, attorneys, lenders and other industry-related professionals.

“Our new regional symposiums will provide a venue for sponsors to network with registered reps, financial advisors and broker-dealers and create new distribution channels to grow and expand their businesses,” said Renee Brown, President of REISA. “We hope to attract new industry professionals in the Dallas area and give them the educational tools to build investment portfolios with securitized real estate products and ultimately build their business.”

REISA will host two other regional symposiums in 2010 including an East Regional Symposium in Washington, D.C. in May and a Midwest Regional Symposium in Chicago on June 14, 2010. Additionally, REISA will hold its annual conference on October 17-19, 2010 at the Paris Las Vegas.
